Senator Bankhead Stands Firmly on His Control Law

Abandonment Would Lead to 18-Million-Bale Crop, He Declares

FARMERS WANT IT

Production Control Farmer's Only Salvation, Bankhead Believes

By Senator John H. Bankhead (Author of Bankhead Cotton Act) (Written for the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON.—(AP)—There is but one way to suspend the tax on ginning cotton in excess of individual allotments. That way is for the president to issue a proclamation that the economic emergency in the production and marketing of cotton has ceased to exist.

That would be a tremendously high price to pay to avoid the payments necessary to market the excess cotton. If it is ascertained and proclaimed that the emergency in marketing cotton has ceased to exist there would be no justification for the continuance of the 12-cent cotton loan. There would be no justification for further administrative operations covering cotton, either under the bankhead act or acreage rentals.

There would be no justification for continuing the processing taxes. These are all emergency measures and based upon legislation declaring them emergency acts as legal support for their constitutionality.

Certificates Are Crop Insurance
Farmers in the drought area look to their unused certificates as a form of crop insurance. They also will have the right next year to use unsold certificates to pay the tax on that much cotton in addition to next year's allotments, if the act is retained in effect. They have the moral and a property right. They are suffering much more than are their fellow farmers who have excess cotton to which the tax applies.

The bankhead act saved the acreage rental plan this year. Every acre connected with the acreage rental plan, from the chief of the cotton section down to the county committee, knows that sufficient acreage reduction could not have been secured to make the plan effective but for the bankhead act.

If the acreage rental plan had been called off, as it doubtless would have been, but for the passage of the bankhead act, more cotton probably would have been produced than last year notwithstanding the drought. The drought reduced the size of the total crop only about 12 per cent.

Those who have excess cotton occupy a good position. They will get as much money for cotton upon which they pay a tax, including the seed, as they got last year for the same amount of cotton. When the allotted cotton is included the average per bale, including the seed, is greatly increased over last year and two and a half times over the price received in 1932.

Change Means Price Drop.
The Bureau of Agricultural Economics figures that under present conditions a change of one million bales changes the price nearly one cent a pound.

If control is abandoned next year, and we have average weather I believe we can look for an 18,000,000 bale crop. When the price is good nearly every producer is hungry for more cotton.

Last year, but for the blow-up, we would have had 17,000,000 bales. It seems unthinkable to me that our cotton farmers would want to go back to the prices of 1931 and 1932, more emphasis should be placed upon the number of dollars received than upon the number of pounds to be sold tax free.

We should face the task of removing inequalities in making allotments rather than destroying a program which will bring to the cotton belt this year twice as much money as came to us from the crop of 1932, and many millions more than was received by the farmers last year.

The production of food and feed

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Featherston, the Bradley couple, are in Josephine hospital.

The driver, Jimmy Feild, of Hope, is in Julia Chester hospital.

John Lund, of the Air Reduction Sales company, Shreveport, whose truck hit the Feild and Featherston car, is in a Shreveport hospital.

Mrs. Featherston was hurt internally and sustained a broken left hip and a nose injury. Physicians said her recovery is doubtful.

Mr. Featherston sustained an injured left hip, several broken ribs, and severe bruises and scratches.

Mr. Feild's right arm was broken, and he sustained an injured knee and hip, in addition to skin abrasions. It was the second break for the same arm within a few months. Feild having hit a cow and wrecked his car on the Fulton paved highway early in the summer.

Monday's accident was said to have occurred when the Shreveport truck swung wide to pass another car and plunger heading into the taxicab car from Hope.

T. C. Hale Struck by Car on No. 67

Hope Painter Steps in Front and Sustains Broken Leg

T. C. (Carroll) Hale, 63, local painter and paper-hanger, sustained a broken right leg Sunday night when struck by an automobile as he walked along highway No. 67 near the Tol-E-Tex service station on the eastern edge of the city.

Hale was knocked down by a car driven by Curtis Urrey, assistant superintendent of HopeBasket company, in what was said to have been an unavoidable accident. Hale, walking east, stepped directly into the path of the car, witnesses said.

It occurred about 8 o'clock Sunday night.

Hale was removed to Josephine hospital, where it was found that his right leg was broken below the knee.

22nd Gordon Bennett Cup Race Begins in Poland

WARSAW, Poland.—(AP)—Twenty big balloons soared gracefully one by one from the Mokopow airfield Sunday in brilliant sunshine and favorable winds, starting the 22nd annual Gordon Bennett cup race. A south-westerly breeze was blowing, with indications of shifting to westward toward midnight, making a landing somewhere on Russian soil most probable.

A pilot balloon, operated by the Frenchman, Georges Sore, was first to ascend. Sore was accompanied by a French woman balloonist, Mme. Collette Weber.

Hauptmann's Case Adjourned Until First of October

Arraigned Monday in Bronx Court, But Indictment Is Delayed

IN ARMORED TRUCK

Sheriff's Van Used to Transport Prisoner From Jail Cell

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann was arraigned in a Bronx magistrate's court Monday on a charge of extortion in the Lindbergh kidnaping, and the case was adjourned until October 1.

Hauptmann said nothing during the brief proceeding.

The adjournment was asked by Assistant District Attorney Andrew C. McCarthy.

The prisoner was removed from the Bronx county jail for arraignment in a sheriff's van—an armored truck with bullet-proof glass.

To Arraign Hauptmann

NEW YORK.—Forces of the law completed preparations Sunday night for bringing Bruno Richard Hauptmann to justice on a charge of extorting ransom in connection with the kidnaping of the infant son of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

All the gruesome details of the crime which shocked the nation on March 1, 1932, and the weighty evidence pointing to Hauptmann as the man who cashed in on that crime, will be reviewed before a Bronx grand jury Monday. District Attorney Sam J. Polk said he was confident that Hauptmann will be indicted. He declared that he had an iron-clad case.

It is probable that the German alien who escaped to America to avoid a prison sentence in Germany will be brought to trial in New York on the extortion charge while the New Jersey authorities assemble evidence against him indicating that he played a part in the kidnaping and murder of the baby.

There will be a tense and dramatic moment in the grand jury room when Col. Lindbergh faces the man charged with the responsibility of the deed that brought bitterness into the life of the famous aviator and his wife, Anne Morrow Lindbergh. The colonel is expected to appear here Wednesday as the formal complainant in the case. He is flying here from California to aid in the prosecution.

Justice First On Stage
The first witness before the grand jury Monday is expected to be Dr. John F. Condon, who under the compulsion of "Jafie" acted as Col. Lindbergh's agent in the ransom negotiations. He will tell the jury how he handed over $50,000 in $5, $10 and $20 bills to a man with a German accent in St. Raymond's cemetery in the Bronx in April, 1932. Dr. Condon has viewed Hauptmann and says there is a resemblance between the prisoner and the ransom-taker but he has not made a positive identification.

Fisch "Broke"
LEIPZIG, Germany.—(AP)—A brother of Isadore Fischel, the man from whom Bruno Richard Hauptmann said he got the Lindbergh ransom money—said Sunday that Isadore returned to Germany on money he borrowed from Hauptmann, and died with scores of bills unpaid.

Paul Fischel, the brother, said Isadore's sole cash assets when he died in March 29, 1934, consisted of a traveler's check for 100 marks. He said that Isadore died of tuberculosis, shortly before his death, told him that he had borrowed money from Hauptmann to make the trip.

"We didn't know that Isadore was so sick," said Frau Paul Fischel, deeply moved. "He came over to cure an ailment, but was completely wrecked upon arrival. Obviously he knew he would die and wanted to see us once more."

Had Little to Spend
The brothers said they figured Isadore started from America to Germany with $1,000 which he used in paying for a ticket to Leipzig and back and in paying for his doctor's bills.

Paul, an older brother, said he remembered Isadore telling him he became acquainted with Hauptmann in New York about 18 months ago. Isadore mentioned Hauptmann as a "kind of business associate," Paul said. He intimated Hauptmann was described by his brother in frequent references, as a man dealing in "everything."

"Our family have always been honest fur traders, making a reasonable living, but have not gathered fortunes," was the comment of Frau Fischel in answer to a frank inquiry concerning the trend of their business.

"Isadore was severely handicapped

U. S. Ties Up Yacht Race at Two-All

But Sopwith Is Hostile—Claims Rainbow Cut in Front of Him

NEWPORT, R. I.—(AP)—T. O. M. Sopwith's protest of Rainbow's victory Saturday in the fourth race against the challenger Endeavor for America's cup was dismissed Sunday night by the race committee.

Ignoring the question of the foul, Sopwith alleged had been committed, the race committee decided his protest could not be allowed under Rule 45 of the racing code which says the red flag must be flown "promptly."

The decision thus made Rainbow's victory Saturday official and evened the series at two victories each. The crew are due at the starting line Monday at 9:40 a. m. (Hope time) for the fifth match.

It was said that Sopwith's double protest involving Vanderbilt's crowd-mob to bear off and repeating the same mark.

A member of the America's afterward explained that the delay in flying the protest flag, which was not broken out until the sloops were within five minutes of the finish line as resulting from uncertainty regarding the New York Yacht Club racin rules. He said that Sopwith and Charles Nicholson, the Challenger's designer, were forced to consult copies of the rules before they decided they had a legitimate protest and that when this decision was reached they immediately displayed the protest flag.

Members of the crew who the invader who were not as uncommittal as their skipper, declared that if Sopwith has insisted upon his rights the yacht race would have ended immediately after the windward mark, with Rainbow's crew swimming.

The insisted that if Sopwith had persisted in luffing, Rainbow would have been cut in two, just forward of her lee rigging.

Face-to-Face With Kidnapers!

Sullen Alert

Defiant Resigned

"A clever, sly fellow," German authorities whom he eluded to come to the United States eleven years ago call Bruno R. Hauptmann, whose possession of Lindbergh ransom money led to his imprisonment. New York police, however, know him as a different sort of man, as these camera studies reveal, answering the almost endless questions with alternately sullen and defiant looks, answering the almost endless questions with alternately sullen and defiant looks, answering the almost endless questions with alternately sullen and defiant looks. When questioning was halted momentarily, he would become eagerly alert to catch words from whispered conferences of his jailers. Later, on their way to court, he seemed depressed.

Discrimination Against Union Men Charged as Mills Reopen

Textile Workers' Representative Suspects Owners of Concerted Move Against Strike Lieutenants

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Francis J. Gorman, chairman of the textile strike committee, charged Monday that a number of employers were discriminating against active union leaders in the re-employment of textile strikers.

Gorman's charges were issued just after George A. Sloan, chairman of the Cotton Textile Institute, had said that it would take time for the employers to formulate a policy on the basis of the Winant Board's report. The most serious cases of discrimination come from the South, and there is strong evidence of a preconcerted design not to re-employ some workers, Gorman said.

Gorman also said a number of mills did not open and that it probably would be a few days before all resume.

"Others could not employ their full complement of workers, but as time passes we are assured they will be taken back," he said.

Return to Mills
WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Mill whistles Monday will summon back to their looms most of the many thousands who three weeks ago answered the strike call of the United Textile workers.

Foremost as the walkout ends is the question of whether jobs await those who took leading parts in it, with militant unionists on the alert for any indications of discrimination against their colleagues.

The strike was called off Saturday by a minority of the union's Executive Council insisting that it continue until the mill owners guarantee

McGuire Sentence Affirmed Monday by Supreme Court

$25,000 in Fire Insurance Claims Awarded Hotel Owner

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court Monday denied a petition for a rehearing of the death sentence pronounced against Bill McGuire, and affirmed second-degree murder sentences against two other men and a woman.

McGuire is under sentence to die for the slaying of W. G. Carter, a filling station operator here, during a holdup.

Mrs. Essie Fulbright's five-year sentence, and the ten-year sentences of Roy Hix and Otis Crossen for second degree murder in the slaying last September of W. P. Ford near Newport, were affirmed.

The full amount of policies aggregating $25,000 on a frame hotel building at Hot Springs was allowed the owner, Annie E. Little, by the supreme court on her contention that she suffered a total loss by the fire which razed that structure.

Several insurance companies sought to restrict the loss to what they claimed was only $5,000.

Bruce Prater must stand another trial for damages as the result of injuries sustained by Mrs. Stella McIntyre when she was attacked by a bull belonging to Mr. Prater.

In the first trial of the suit in Jackson circuit court a verdict was found for Prater.

Rhyne Resigns as Director of Roads

Political Differences Believed Accountable for His Action

LITTLE ROCK.—State director of Highways, James R. Rhyne, submitted his resignation to the State Highway Commission at the last meeting and it is expected the commission will accept it Wednesday, effective October 1, it was learned over the week-end. Director Rhyne, a Little Rock engineer, was appointed director of highways when the department was reorganized after Governor Futrell was inaugurated in January, 1933.

It was reported that J. C. Baker, Little Rock engineer, who is state superintendent of maintenance for the department is the leading choice for a successor to Mr. Rhyne. Mr. Baker was appointed district supervisor with headquarters in Paragould about six months ago. Another report current was that Dan Futrell of Paragould, brother of the governor, who now is district supervisor, may succeed Mr. Baker as state maintenance supervisor.

No reason for Mr. Rhyne's resignation could be obtained but it was reported that the move was the result of political differences.

Mr. Rhyne has been in active practice of engineering in Arkansas for 25 years before he assumed his present connection. At the time of the highway department reorganization, the maintenance organization, which had been involved in politics, was demoralized. Equipment was badly worn and highways were impassable.

A negro barbecue stand operated by G. C. Morris was badly damaged by fire which broke out in a building on South Hazel street shortly after 1 o'clock Monday afternoon. The flames were quickly brought under control.

Hitler Is Defied by German Clergy

Setting Up of Nazi State Church Overlord Is Widely Resented

BERLIN, Germany. —(AP)—Excommunication was the defiant term that rang from many altars as opposition of pastors took note of the widely heralded concentration of Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller Sunday.

By the Rev. Martin Niemoller, ardent foe of the Nazi church policies, thousands of clergymen read from their pulpits a declaration which culminated with the sentence:

"Bishop Mueller, Dr. August Jaeger, (commissioner of Protestant churches) divorced themselves from the Christian community, abandoned the basis of the Christian church and have forfeited all rights thereto."

The declaration accused Bishop Mueller and Dr. Jaeger of "heresy" in that by "setting aside from the confessions of faith they seek to establish a German national church with Germanic faith characteristics."

The opposition statement regarded the concentration of Bishop Mueller as "one which must fill all Christians with deep shame and sorrow."

While this assault was being made from opposition pulpits seven Protestant bishops in dignified ecclesiastical robes raised their arms in stiff Nazi salute at elaborate ceremonies here at which Bishop Mueller was proclaimed the supreme head of the German church.

It was a new note in German liturgical practice.

The Nazi theme was further carried out by the entire congregation at the Protestant cathedral where all followed suit with the military-appearing salute while Mueller, preceded by hundreds of clergymen and 29 bishops entered the house of worship.

President Roosevelt, the Herald Tribune article continues, was extremely irritated over the incident. This speech the dispatch says, did not represent the president's views and was not made at the request of the president.

A development is expected upon the return of the president to Washington.

crops this year on the land taken out of cotton production is one of the best features of the cotton control plan.

Unless our farmers are willing to adjust the supply of cotton to the consumer demand, as all industry does with its production, we cannot secure parity prices for cotton. Farmers will be obliged to pay high prices for what they buy and get low prices for their cotton.

The meeting Saturday with Secretary Wallace and his assistants was a helpful one. Senators and congressmen pointed out inequalities in allotment with many small producers who had in former years voluntarily reduced.

Japs Buy Russia's Share in Railroad

Chinese Eastern Railway Passes Out of International Crisis

TOKYO, Japan. —(AP)—It was announced Sunday that Foreign Minister Koki Hirota and Dr. Constantine Yurdenef, Russian ambassador, have agreed upon a price for transfer of Soviet Russia's half-share in the Chinese Eastern railway to Manchukuo.

Substantial conditions of the transfer also have been agreed upon, it was announced, thereby solving an issue which for three years has carried the most dangerous threat of any single factor pointing toward a Russo-Japanese war.

The price was not disclosed, but it was learned upon excellent authority that Manchukuo will pay 140,000,000 yen ($40,000,000) for the railway, plus discharge allowances for Soviet employees estimated at 30,000,000 yen $7,500,000 additional.

This amount, approximating $50,000,000, halves the difference in the last offers of both sides prior to a deadlock in negotiations reached last month.

It was revealed that Hirota and Yurdenef during the last 30 days, under cover of an apparent crisis in Russo-Japanese relations, marked by bitter exchanges, protests, charges and recriminations, achieved a compromise in a series of secret meetings.

"Since the deadlock on August 13," said a Foreign Office spokesman, "a series of unofficial conversations took place, during which we ascertained that an agreement between Soviet Russia and Manchukuo was possible through mutual compromises. Therefore we summoned Manchukuo delegates to Tokyo to complete the arrangements."

Julia Lemley, salutatorian of the 1934 Hope High School graduating class, made the highest score on the test, while Mary Della Carrigan, valedictorian of the same class, ranked among the first ten.

Miss Lemley was tied for highest honors by Sarah Lee Moore of Prescott.

Washington Not First President

John Hanson, Maryland, Served as President From 1781 to 1789

MEMPHIS, Tenn. —(AP)—The real "forgotten man," Prof. J. L. Highsaw, educator and historian said Friday, is "the first president of the United States."

The neglect of John Hanson of Maryland, Highsaw declared, has been shameful, and it is his intention to remedy matters to the best of his ability by having history teachers at Technical High School, of which he is principal, instruct their pupils about Mr. Hanson.

"We have had two constitutions," he said. "The first was the articles of confederation. These articles named John Hanson president and he served as president from 1781 to 1789. I have a copy of a document which shows that General Washington addressed Hanson as 'your excellency, the president of the United States.'"

"Maryland recognizes him as the first president. There is a statue in Maryland and engraved on it is John Hanson, first president of the United States."

"This neglect of our President Hanson is shameful. Hardly a school child, hardly an adult ever heard of him. He is truly 'the forgotten man,' and we are going to do everything in our power to make a well-remembered man."

Bad Feeling Laid to Radio Operator

Acting Captain Testifies Alagna Quarreled With Captain

NEW YORK. —(AP)—Testimony that he feared George I. Alagna, assistant radio operator of the Morro Castle, would throw acid in the face of Captain Robert Willmott, was given Monday by William F. Warmis, acting captain of the ship.

Warmis, who assumed command of the Morro Castle when Willmott died, several hours before the ship was destroyed by fire, contradicted testimony given by Alagna last week that there was no quarrel between them.

Goodbye to all That!

No More Ash Can Worries For Me!

Goodbye to getting up on chilly winter mornings and trying to start a stubborn fire—goodbye to hauling dirty ashes and storing dirty fuel—goodbye to coaxing a cranky fire to burn—goodbye to all that!

It's an automatically controlled gas furnace for me from now on . . . with a nice neat little thermostat upon the wall where I can regulate the temperature merely by stretching out my arm from my comfortable chair.

THE WARM AIR CIRCULATOR
Yes, it's as simple as that when you heat with natural gas. And if you haven't a basement for a furnace installation you can use a Floor Furnace or Warm Air Circulator and get the same comfortable carefree heat.

THE WARM AIR CIRCULATOR
draws cold air off the floor, heats it and sends it up and out to every nook and corner of the room. It's healthful heat, too—and costs little if any more than antiquated methods.

by illness, often finding himself without a job." Paul Fisch said, "The minute Isadore's death became known to his former friends, heaps of letters descended upon us from persons in America and Germany demanding repayment of debts which Isadore had supposedly incurred while in New York."

Paul Fisch estimated his brother's debts at from $5,000 to $10,000, according to the letters he had received.

"None of his creditors, however, is able to produce vouchers for money allegedly loaned to him," Paul said, "but shortly before he died Isadore told me Hauptmann and some other fellows advanced him $17,000 to buy furs, which he used for that purpose."

"I know Isadore had no money. Only in August last year I sent him furs for 300 marks which he was unable to pay while he was here."

crops this year on the land taken out of cotton production is one of the best features of the cotton control plan.

Unless our farmers are willing to adjust the supply of cotton to the consumer demand, as all industry does with its production, we cannot secure parity prices for cotton. Farmers will be obliged to pay high prices for what they buy and get low prices for their cotton.

The meeting Saturday with Secretary Wallace and his assistants was a helpful one. Senators and congressmen pointed out inequalities in allotment with many small producers who had in former years voluntarily reduced.
